

Australian
National University

Printing large files can cause delays

Printing files larger than 20MB can take a long time to print, particularly at times of peak network use