Open Source for Scholarly Publishing: An Inventory and Analysis. MIT Press is issued Mind the Gap: A Landscape Analysis of Open Source Publishing Tools and Platforms.

Open access: ARL ARL endorsed COAR/SPARC Good Practice Principles for Scholarly Communication Services

Do monographs have a future? Publishers, funders and research evaluators must decide. Mike Taylor argues that if monographs are to be appropriately valued, there is a pressing need to further integrate monographs into the digital infrastructure of scholarly communication.

Scholarly E-Books and University Presses – Part Two. Karin Wulf shares her thoughts – discussing the tensions around mission driven publishing dedicated to the production and dissemination of scholarship, business models and aggregators.

Archives staff move new treasures into the collection. Off to the tunnel we will go. The march of boxes from CAP garages to ANU Archives. Thanks to our intrepid archives staff.

Chifley Library. Science week was a huge success – in addition to the many events staff shared their top picks:

Chifley Library celebrates Napoleon's 250th birthday. The celebratory afternoon tea was fabulous – Jaisy was the creator of the 250th birthday cake.

This week we are exploring the Hollywood Hotel in Sydney's Surry Hills. Many will be aware that the Hollywood's well-known pubman and local icon, Denis O'Shea, passed away this week at the age of 89.

A great post from Archives – 14 comments: 54 shares 18,220 people reached 3,067 engagements

From Kathryn - It has been an eventful week at the Noel Butlin Archives Centre – on Monday we had an impromptu visit of very young researchers from the ANU child care centre.

Chifley AED. The AED in Chifley – has been removed as part of the refurbishment – so much has moved! If an incident requiring happens before the AED is reinstalled in Chifley (early October) Security needs to be called. Will check the map to see where the nearest one is.

Farewell Karen Hill. Karen will be leaving the university in late September for a very exciting position in Brisbane. We wish her the very best.

ANU Library BONUS+ Coordinator Thanks to Vanessa Galloway for undertaking the role of the BONUS+ Coordinator for the ANU Library.

Vanessa took on the role in 2016 when the ANU Library joined the BONUS+ scheme. There have been many changes since we joined to how the scheme functions and Vanessa guided us seamlessly through the various changes.

A small review of where this role sat within the Library was conducted at the end of 2018 and it was decided that the role fitted into the Document Delivery role. There has been a period of handover activities which has now been completed.
