

MIAL delegation and ANU Archives staff role playing 'The Soap Saga'.

Maritime Industry Australia Ltd members and staff visited the ANU Archives. Their tour included taking part in an interactive role-play that used the transcript of a dispute over dessert, fruit and the brand of soap, between McIlwraith McEachern and the Seamen's Union of Australia, 1951

SIS News

SIS STAFF MEETING

Wednesday 1 April
McDonald Room Menzies Library
Meeting time 10-11.30 am.

Guest Speakers: Garry Whatley on ANU Digital Transformation Plan

Katharine Pierce on the ANU Story project

SIS Symposium. Also for your diaries - 8th September

Location: China in the World

COVID 19. The University's planning on the COVID 19 issue has entered phase 2 planning. Student engagement and education has been the priority in phase 1 with remarkable contributions from across the campus.

JB Chifley Library building news.

Thanks to Kel Glover and the team from Facilities and Services. A multiplicity of fixes have occurred to the building in the past fortnight and the air is not fresh and clean.

Hancock Library building news.

Thanks to Kel Glover and the team from Facilities and Services. A multiplicity of fixes have occurred to the building in the past fortnight and the air is not fresh and clean.

Law Library building news. Again thanks to the team from Facilities and Services. The tarpulins are presenting further damage and Joanna is working with Muni and his colleagues to plan the rectification which will include roof work and carpet replacement.

Menzies Library building news. Again thanks to the team from Facilities and Services. Investigatory work into the roof will occur this weekend. Thanks Kel!

International Womens Day. We have a great range of exhibitions and resources for IWD. The news item has details -- in summary.

ANU Archives display. The ANU Archives have installed two displays in the R.G. Menzies Library to mark Women's History Month.

- Find out more about women in trade unions and the Labor movement from the late 1800s to 2000s. Items on display include minute books of trade union equal pay committees; pamphlets and badges relating to feminism and the women's movement; photographs and short biographies of prominent women in trade unions; and various records from the Union of Australian Women

- Discover the history of the ANU Women's Studies Program, which ran from 1976-2000. Items on display include a variety of posters, pamphlets, magazines, correspondence and short biographies of those associated with establishing and running the program including Ann Curthoys, Jan Matthews, Dorothy Broom and Susan Magarey

ANU Library resources and display: A Women and Gender Studies exhibit is on display on Level 2 of the J.B. Chifley Library.

Women's Studies database: ANU Library users now have access to the Women's Studies database, which is a digitised version of microforms lost in the 2018 Chifley flood.

ANU Press resources: The ANU Press have a number of titles on the subject of women and women's studies available for free download.

Privacy Awareness Week 2020. This year we celebrate Privacy Awareness Week (PAW) from 4 to 10 May.

PRIVACY AWARENESS WEEK

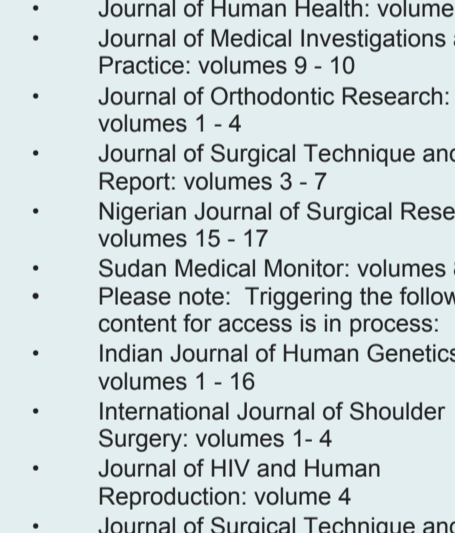

Collection relocation - amazing achievement in Hancock Library. Congratulations to all involved - The relocation on Level 1 finished this week - Samantha announced the news on Twitter.

CLOCKSS archive. The CLOCKSS Archive have announced that eleven journals have been triggered for open access by the CLOCKSS Board of Directors.

The triggered journals are: Annals of Bioanthropology; volumes 2 - 5; European Journal of Prosthodontics; volumes 1 - 4; Indian Journal of Human Genetics; volumes 17 - 20; International Journal of Shoulder Surgery; volumes 5- 10; Journal of HIV and Human Reproduction; volumes 1 - 3; Journal of Human Health; volume 1; Journal of Medical Investigations and Practice; volumes 9 - 10; Journal of Orthodontic Research; volumes 1 - 4; Journal of Surgical Technique and Case Report; volumes 3 - 7; Nigerian Journal of Surgical Research; volumes 15 - 17; Sudan Medical Monitor; volumes 8 - 12; Please note: Triggering the following content for access is in process: Indian Journal of Human Genetics; volumes 1 - 16; International Journal of Shoulder Surgery; volumes 1- 4; Journal of HIV and Human Reproduction; volume 4; Journal of Surgical Technique and Case Report; volumes 1 - 2

Flood replacement. More boxes from the order with GOBI have arrived - 50 boxes containing 1030 books.

Visitors. Associate Professor Sayuri Inoue (Osaka University) toured the Menzies Library with - Dr. Yuri Takahashi, Lecturer, Burmese, School of Culture, History and Language, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific. Thanks to Wan and everyone who assisted in this tour.

Archives. The Noel Butlin Archives Centre holds numerous shipping and maritime deposits from companies, industry associations (representing employers) and unions (representing employees).

Archivist Debra Leigo prepared the activity and displays following intensive appraisal and processing of the latest deposit received from MIAL.

The records received in 2016 arrived as 328 cartons stacked across 7 pallets (left). The records are now accessible as N380 and consists of 3504 items housed in 422 boxes (85 linear metres). The records including minute books, constitutions, membership, communications, subject files and industrial disputes, and cover the period 1902 to 2013.

N380 MIAL deposit before processing

Copyright.

- Led Zeppelin wins Stairway to Heaven copyright case after lengthy legal battle. In summary "Led Zeppelin has won the Stairway to Heaven copyright case after persuading a US appeals court to reinstate a jury verdict that it did not steal the opening guitar riff for from an obscure song written four years earlier"

ALIA. ALIA has been considering positioning its assets and services within the framework of current and future needs. I was delighted to serve as part of the group that reviewed building and asset needs.

GLAM Peak and Parliamentary Friends of Australian Books and Writers.

The Group held a breakfast meeting at the National Archives discussing current issues with sector representatives. It was fabulous to be invited to attend.

Dark Clouds and Silver Linings: An Epistemological Lens on Disaster Recovery. Last year Janet Fletcher and I have a presentation to introduction on the which we have extended and now published in JALIA - Dark Clouds and Silver Linings: An Epistemological Lens on Disaster Recovery.

Elsevier. The University of California libraries have announced that they have reached an agreement with Elsevier. It offers significant cost containment and open Access publishing options for CSU corresponding authors, with no APCs.

Roxanne Missingham University Librarian

Events

SIS Staff meeting DATE: 10-11.30 noon, 1 April 2020 VENUE: Grand Room

INTERNATIONAL SUMMIT GLOBAL EYES ON INFORMATION DATE: 28-30 April 2020 VENUE: See the website.

FROM HR

Applications are now invited for the first 2020 round of grants under the Carers' Career Development Assistance Fund (CCDAF).

The complete list of HR Division Training & Development courses is here.

Forewelling Sally. Sally Webster has done an outstanding job of supporting the division in recent years. We have been very fortunate to have her support and her leadership in HR has been remarkable.

Australian Research Data Commons

Advancing data-driven research in the social sciences

Read more

Celebrating women in science and technology

Read more

ANU Press and Open Access Publishing

ANU Press publications subsidy now open. The Publication Subsidy is now open, applications close 30 April 2020.

Pilot Data Trust for Open Access Ebook Usage. The project now has a web presence. The team is projecting with a new product manager at Curtin University and a data scientist at Curtin to come soon.

New Stanford digital OA publication with 3D. Constructing the Sacred Visibility and Ritual Landscape at the Egyptian Necropolis of Saqqara by ELAINE A. SULLIVAN is an extraordinary innovative new research publication.

SAGE Open Access Portal. SAGE has launched a great new SAGE Open Access Portal. This integrated online platform provides a single portal for authors, consortia, libraries and funders to manage open access publishing at SAGE.

Essential marketing insights for book publishers. Watch the latest Altmetric Book Club webinar recording for a demonstration of how altmetrics data provides essential insights for your marketing strategy and hear from author, thought-leader and CEO, David Giannetto about how book publishers can help authors connect with the media.

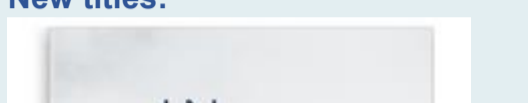

Association of European Research Libraries (LIBER) Reaffirms Commitment to Open Access. LIBER's five-year Strategy - covering the period 2018-2022 - includes as a key pillar the vision of a research landscape in which Open Access is the predominant form of publishing.

OA tidbits: 4.5 Million Volumes from University of California Libraries Have Been Digitized and Contributed to HathiTrust Digital Library

New titles:

Learning from Fukushima (Japanese translation) asks whether nuclear power is a realistic energy option for East Asia

Open Research

Sherpa Romeo and Fact. Sherpa Romeo and Fact have been upgraded. This will enable you to manage open access policies and demonstrate compliance with different funder and publisher requirements.

Open Peer Review in the Humanities. Open peer review hasn't caught on in the humanities, but it has been part of ongoing experiments in humanities publishing.

New in the repository: Part-time in general practice-a remedy to a time-based problem?; Decanuclear Cluster-Based Metal-Organic Framework with a (3,11)-Connected Topology and Highly Sensitive 2,4,6-Trinitrophenol Detection; Reply to Comment on "Plasmons in Two Graphene Layers"; Spectroscopy and excited-state dynamics in weakly collective Cd 111; Confronting collective and microscopic models; Adoption and validation of the Working Alliance Inventory for General Practice: qualitative review and cross-sectional surveys

Keeping up to date

2020 EDUCAUSE Horizon Report: Teaching and Learning Edition. Emerging trends and practices include: adaptive learning; AI/Machine learning Analytics for student success; elevation of instructional design, learning engineering and UX (AR,VR, MR, Haptic) technologies.

Jisc, UK institutions and Wiley "read and publish" agreement. Jisc and Wiley, a global leader in research and education, have struck a four-year "read and publish" agreement that offers researchers at UK universities open access (OA) publishing in all Wiley journals at no cost to them.

CNI. Toward Collaborative Models for Sustaining Digital Scholarship. (Katrina Fenlon, University of Maryland) Three digital humanities projects comprising the "Sustaining Digital Community Collections" are presented with the aim of developing context-driven sustainability models, which share responsibility for the long-term care of digital projects among libraries and research communities.

Building a Digital Preservation Strategy Across a Broad University System. (Todd Grappone, University of California, Los Angeles; Edson Smith, University of California, Los Angeles; Mary Elings, University of California, Berkeley) The University of California (UC) libraries formed a multi-campus working group charged both with developing a practical, shared vision of digital preservation for library content, and with outlining a roadmap to guide the UC libraries in advancing that shared vision. Activities, methodology, and findings, and how they will inform an overall digital preservation strategy within the UC system are covered.

Machine Learning in Research Libraries: A Snapshot of Projects, Opportunities and Challenges (Harish Maringanti, University of Utah; Elizabeth Lorang, University of Nebraska-Lincoln; Zheng (John) Wang, University of Notre Dame) The presenters share their efforts exploring a range of practical and theoretical questions relating to the intersection of machine learning and libraries and discuss the opportunities and complexities for its use in research libraries.

Macmillan mulls sustainability library ebook embargo. Public libraries have been in revolt over the embargo on ebooks - limiting access to a single copy per title to each public library for the first 2 months after release. Outrageous. But the change brings another withdrawal of rights.

Digital Skills for Library Staff & Researchers. The LIBER Working Group on this topic has released a great infographic identifying open science skills for library staff.

College & Research Libraries News.

March issues online - articles include: "Global action on the urgency of climate change: Academic and research libraries' contributions."; "Systemic barriers and allyship in library publishing: A case study reminder that no one is safe from racism"; "Critical appraisal: The key to unlocking information literacy in the STEM disciplines."

Digital culture 2019. A major longitudinal study of arts and cultural organisations' use of technology in England, charts trends in this area over 2013-2019.

Seattle National Archives Threatened with Closure. On January 13, the staff at the National Archives and Records Administration Federal Archives and Records Center in Seattle, WA, were informed that the facility would be closed within the next four years, and the records held there moved to facilities in Kansas, City, MO and Riverside, CA. Washington Attorney General Bob Ferguson has threatened legal action against the agency that recommended its closure.

IFLA and ICA Launch Joint Statement on Archiving and Privacy. It is wonderful to see leadership on such an important issue. The launch notes: The statement comes following the emergence of a new, tougher, generation of privacy laws around the world. These represent a welcome step towards ensuring that personal information is not misused, and to giving people control over their own data, for example allowing them to choose how companies and others use it, benefit themselves from the insights it offers, and even ask for its deletion. However, while this can help to prevent invasions of privacy by commercial actors, it is necessary to take care to ensure that it does not put at risk the work of libraries and archives in acquiring and preserving works. As the new statement underlines, laws should never allow for, or mandate, the destruction of works held in heritage institutions where this has been selected for preservation and kept because of its enduring cultural significance. Instead, and where decisions have to be made about whether it is appropriate to offer access, there should be support to professionals in developing skills and meaningful codes of ethics and conduct

Is it Finally the Year of Research Data? - The STM Association Thinks So. On February 26th, Phill Jones gate-crashed the 2nd STM association research data workshop. Here's what he learned about the progress being made and that challenges ahead in making data sharable, open, and maybe even FAIR.

College & Research Libraries News. March issues online - articles include: "Margaret F. Nichols: 'From Storehouse to Laboratory: Trends and Ideals in Academic Librarianship Reflected in C&RL, 1946-1968'"; Heather Moulaison Sandy, A.J. Millon, Cynthia Hudson-Vitale. "Innovating Support for Research: The Coalescence of Scholarly Communication?"; Kevin Fosnacht. "Information Literacy's Influence on Undergraduates' Learning and Development: Results from a Large Multi-institutional Study"; Laura Saunders. "Core Knowledge and Specialized Skills in Academic Libraries."